JUNE 2026 : EDITION

SCHOOL ANTHEM

Amidst the rivers that gently flow,
And mountains tall, where eagles soar.
In valleys green, where nature thrives,
Our Doon School, where greatness resides.

Oh, Doon School, our hearts are true,
We stand together, strong and blue,
With courage high and spirits bright,
We'll conquer challenges, with all our might.

In this heaven, where birds take flight,
We seek knowledge, our beacon of light.
In every classroom, wisdom's voice,
Guiding us onward, to make the choice.

Through flowing rivers and mountains grand,
We'll strive for greatness, hand in hand.
Inspired by nature's beauty profound,
In unity and harmony, we are bound.

From valleys deep to peaks above,
Our Doon School, a place we love,
With resilience as our guiding star,
We'll face the world, no matter how far.

Oh, Doon School, forever we'll be,
United by knowledge, proud and free.
In rivers, mountains, birds, and valleys wide,
Our spirit shall soar, with a lasting stride.

CHRONICLES

THE BENCH

Every afternoon, the old bench at the end of the playground sat empty while the others filled with laughter. One day, a new student quietly took a seat there. Before the bell rang, three more had joined him. By the next week, it wasn't the loneliest bench any more it had become the kindest one.

THE TROPHY

The trophy stayed on the highest shelf long after the applause had faded. Years later, a younger student paused beneath it and whispered, "One day." The medal never heard the promise but it had just inspired another dream.

THE NOTE

She borrowed books faster than she could finish them, not because she loved reading, but because she loved the silence between the shelves. One afternoon, she opened a novel she had almost returned unread. The first line felt as though it had been waiting for her all along.

THE LAST BELL

The final bell rang, and everyone hurried home without looking back. He lingered for a moment, taking one last glance at the classroom that had quietly witnessed every success, every mistake, and every dream. Funny how ordinary places become unforgettable only when it's time to leave.
